

Carta de recomendaciones 2021

Cruz Roja Española

OOTT Tenerife

Recomendaciones de control interno 2021

Recomendaciones 2021

A

Donativos en especie

Hemos detectado que la entidad no dispone de documentación de algunas cesiones de inmuebles de mucha antigüedad registradas en la cuenta 74059

Recomendación

Existen algunos inmuebles de los que se tienen dudas sobre la propiedad o no se quiere asumir el riesgo de intentar regularizar la situación debido a las posibilidades de perder la cesión. Se trata de una decisión tomada por parte de la Oficina Central reflejada en su árbol de decisión de bienes cedidos. Recomendamos, a la Oficina Central, actualizar su árbol de decisión con el fin de contemplar este tipo de casuísticas o actuar de forma alternativa para el correcto registro.

Domingo Pérez Martín
Secretario
OOTT Tenerife

Francisco J. Galán Cuartero
Responsable Económico
OOTT Tenerife

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are employed in the public sector has increased from 10.5 million to 12.5 million, and the number of people in the public sector who are employed in health care has increased from 2.5 million to 3.5 million (Department of Health 2000).

There are a number of reasons for this increase. One of the main reasons is the increasing demand for health care services. The population of the UK is increasing, and the number of people who are aged 65 and over is increasing rapidly. This has led to an increase in the number of people who are in need of health care services, and this has led to an increase in the number of people who are employed in the public sector.

Another reason for this increase is the increasing demand for health care services from the private sector. The private sector is becoming increasingly important in the provision of health care services, and this has led to an increase in the number of people who are employed in the public sector. The private sector is also becoming increasingly important in the provision of health care services, and this has led to an increase in the number of people who are employed in the public sector.

A third reason for this increase is the increasing demand for health care services from the voluntary sector. The voluntary sector is becoming increasingly important in the provision of health care services, and this has led to an increase in the number of people who are employed in the public sector. The voluntary sector is also becoming increasingly important in the provision of health care services, and this has led to an increase in the number of people who are employed in the public sector.

There are a number of reasons for this increase. One of the main reasons is the increasing demand for health care services. The population of the UK is increasing, and the number of people who are aged 65 and over is increasing rapidly. This has led to an increase in the number of people who are in need of health care services, and this has led to an increase in the number of people who are employed in the public sector.

Another reason for this increase is the increasing demand for health care services from the private sector. The private sector is becoming increasingly important in the provision of health care services, and this has led to an increase in the number of people who are employed in the public sector. The private sector is also becoming increasingly important in the provision of health care services, and this has led to an increase in the number of people who are employed in the public sector.

A third reason for this increase is the increasing demand for health care services from the voluntary sector. The voluntary sector is becoming increasingly important in the provision of health care services, and this has led to an increase in the number of people who are employed in the public sector. The voluntary sector is also becoming increasingly important in the provision of health care services, and this has led to an increase in the number of people who are employed in the public sector.

There are a number of reasons for this increase. One of the main reasons is the increasing demand for health care services. The population of the UK is increasing, and the number of people who are aged 65 and over is increasing rapidly. This has led to an increase in the number of people who are in need of health care services, and this has led to an increase in the number of people who are employed in the public sector.